Just off the A9 at the junction of the B9150 and A86

The history of the clan and its families, and its place in the past, present, and future and of the land in which it lived. You will be very welcome, Macpherson or not!

The museum is one of the few privately run museums in Scotland with Visit Scotland's second highest accolade.

The museum covers from early times to the present day. See the Black Chanter delivered from the sky in the middle of a battle. See the fiddle played and then broken on the gallows. Learn about Macpherson heroes and celebrities of yesterday and today.
